Democratic County Officials Warn about Trump Budget Cuts

“County governments use federal funding to support our most important services. We partner with the federal government to provide emergency response, create stability for children and families, build and repair roads and bridges, and fund public safety services. Federal investments into our counties are our tax dollars returning to our communities to leverage local dollars for the benefit of all our residents. Any cuts to services for our communities would be destabilizing and harm families that live in our communities.”

The National Democratic County Officials (NDCO) is the official campaign arm of the Democratic Party dedicated to electing Democrats at the county level. NDCO members serve in over 3,000 county governments in all fifty states.

NDCO represents and supports a broad diversity of elected officials from all corners of this nation: rural, urban and suburban.
